TOM GORES
PRINCIPAL OWNER

Tom Gores is the principal owner of the Detroit Pistons and Palace Sports & Entertainment (PS&E), and Chairman and CEO of Platinum Equity, a global investment firm whose diversified holdings include entertainment, technology, industrial, manufacturing and distribution businesses operating around the world. A graduate of Michigan State University who grew up in Flint, Michigan, Mr. Gores has substantial family and business ties to the region. His wife, Holly, is also a Michigan State grad with extensive roots in the region, and both of them are actively involved in the local community. Mr. Gores has often described the Pistons as a "community asset" with the power to unite and inspire people in Detroit and surrounding communities, and he has set an ambitious agenda for ensuring the organization is not only a contender on the court, but a leader in the community as well.

Since acquiring PS&E in June 2011, Mr. Gores and his ownership team have substantially upgraded the organization's facilities, including The Palace at Auburn Hills, the team's practice facility, and the concert facilities at DTE Energy Music Theatre and Meadowbrook Music Festival. Steady leadership on the business side has improved collaboration, communication and innovation between all facets of the organization ensuring that every PS&E event provides thrilling entertainment, first-class customer service and great value.

While the facilities investments are designed to improve the fan experience and ensure that PS&E's facilities remain state-of-the-art, they represent only half the equation. The Pistons also have made a substantial investment in talent, nurturing both emerging stars acquired through the draft and talented players acquired through the free agent signings and trades.

That investment in talent reflects a key philosophy of Mr. Gores with respect to the Pistons: Build for the future, but do everything you can to win now. Balancing those twin imperatives, President of Basketball Operations Joe Dumars and his team have been very active in drafting young talent, trading for emerging stars and signing elite free agents to form the 2013-2014 team.

The organization is committed to providing a winning team on the court, creating memorable experiences at PS&E's concert venues, and being impactful in the community. To that end, the Pistons launched a new state-wide community outreach program in 2011 called "Come Together" that recognizes people making an impact in their communities throughout Michigan. Under Mr. Gores' leadership, the Pistons and their corporate partners maintain a wide-range of community programs through NBA Cares, addressing health & fitness, education, military, special needs, Black History and Green initiatives. Mr. Gores also spearheaded creation of the "Come Together Foundation," a non-profit foundation designed to support the overall Come Together vision by strategically collaborating with community organizations to raise awareness and provide financial support in the areas of volunteerism, youth leadership and NBA League sponsored programs.

Strong relationships, trust in people, and open communication are keys to Mr. Gores' leadership approach and are reflected in the success of Platinum Equity, the investment firm he founded 17 years ago. Under his strategic direction, Platinum Equity has grown into a multibillion-dollar investment firm with a diverse, global portfolio of operating companies in a wide range of industries including automotive, technology, telecommunications, manufacturing, distribution and logistics, and media. Platinum's portfolio currently comprises more than 30 operating companies, and in 2012 generated more than $15 billion in revenue. The portfolio includes several Michigan-based companies including automotive, logistics and boat-building businesses that employ more than 4,000 people in the state.

Mr. Gores' focus on operational execution is a hallmark of Platinum Equity's approach, and a signature of its differentiation in the global M&A marketplace. The firm's highly differentiated M&A&O® approach -- Mergers, Acquisitions and Operations -- reflects Platinum Equity's mission of not only merging or acquiring businesses, but operating them in a way that creates meaningful value.

His attention to detail and commitment to executing on fundamentals can be traced back to his early experience learning to run a business from the ground up. The Flint native started out in the software industry as an entrepreneur who founded a successful business that provided inventory and supply chain management solutions to the lumber industry. As a small business operator, where companies often trade principally on their good word and ability to follow through on what they promise, Gores learned the importance of empowerment, hard work and integrity -- principles that guide him still today.

Mr. Gores was born in Nazareth, Israel, and moved with his family at age four to Genesee, MI, where he grew up and attended high school. He worked his way through school at Michigan State University, earning a Bachelor's degree in 1986.

The 48-year-old resides in Beverly Hills, CA with his wife, Holly, and their three children. The family also maintains a residence in Birmingham, MI. He is an active and avid coach of youth soccer and basketball, and a patron of education, health issues and the arts.

DENNIS MANNION

PRESIDENT AND CEO, PALACE SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT AND DETROIT PISTONS

Dennis Mannion enters his third season in Detroit after being named President and Chief Executive Officer of Palace Sports & Entertainment and the Detroit Pistons on September 6, 2011. He oversees all aspects of the organization's business operations.

A busy first two seasons of operation included dramatic changes to the company's organizational structure focused on increasing communication, collaboration and innovation within the creative and communications, revenue, operations and administrative departments. Mannion's leadership eliminated work silos by clearly defining organizational strategy, goals and purposes between each group. His creativity as a marketer has helped transform the season ticket holder and corporate partner experience at all three PS&E properties – The Palace, DTE Energy Music Theatre and Meadow Brook Music Festival.

Pistons season ticket membership has been enhanced to include newly created lifestyle programming focused on the delivery of inside-access media, merchandise and memories. "State of the Pistons" season ticket member events, the debut of the club's new "Motor City" jerseys and the rollout of a new Pistons Member Loyalty Program have all been developed with Mannion's guidance. Corporate partnership has been elevated with new programs and media opportunities that promote fan interaction and product activation.

Driving inside-access media delivery for Pistons members and corporate partners is a newly created Pistons Programming Network (PPN) on Pistons.com, an increased focus on social media and the development of three new fan affinity groups catered to men, women and youth. Game night experience has been elevated to include halftime concerts by top national recording artists and entertainment has evolved with the introduction of seven new performance teams, a new interactive Action Guide game night program and the installation of WiFi and Twitter boards inside the arena bowl allowing fans to interact freely throughout any event. Pistons "Power Hour" was introduced last season giving fans pregame access to discounts on food and beverage and merchandise, opportunities to meet Pistons personalities and nightly entertainment an hour before tip-off.

On the entertainment side, DTE Energy Music Theatre and Meadow Brook Music Festival each received new venue updates and branding. Event entertainment at DTE was enhanced with three new club areas tabbed The Ivy Lounge, The Pine Tap and The Arbor. Palacenet.com, the official website for PS&E, was re-launched with new video capabilities and easier navigation and a new entertainment affinity club, The Blue Room, was created to deliver concert fans inside-access media content, event announcements, schedules and special offers.

Continuing owner Tom Gores' mission to be impactful in the community, Mannion launched a new program tabbed "Come Together," which has honored over 10,000 "game-changers" making a difference in communities throughout the State of Michigan, as well as a new youth basketball development program labeled "Pistons Academy" that provides a platform for youngsters to learn the game of basketball and develop their skills.

Maintaining The Palace's reputation as one of the top arenas in sports and entertainment, Mannion has overseen nearly $30 million in improvements and renovations - the largest capital improvement project since 2006. In a three-year span, the organization has completed large-scale renovations to the event level locker rooms, main concourse level, suite areas and club areas along with construction of a new open-air lounge located inside the arena's third level suite area, a state-of-the-art multimedia studio and technological upgrades inside the arena bowl.

The 54-year-old sports and entertainment executive holds the rare distinction of having experience in all four Major League sports where he has led operations during 14 postseason runs and been part of two World Series (1983 and 1993), a Major League All-Star Game (1996), a NHL Conference Championship (1998), a Super Bowl (2001) and two National League Championship Series in 2008 and 2009. The 2013-14 NBA season will be his 32nd in major league sports.

Mannion was most recently a member of the Los Angeles Dodgers front office (2007-2010), where he served as President/COO. His marketing guidance helped the 2009 Dodgers lead Major League Baseball in paid attendance for the first time since 1986. Mannion introduced and created the Dodgers Sports Lab, an innovative production facility that integrated marketing, merchandising and media while also creating a new telemarketing center and a new fan hospitality program. In addition, he oversaw the implementation of several experiential sections around Dodger Stadium and initiated major changes to staff, structure and revenue driving strategies.

In 2008 he helped initiate the team's season-long celebration of its 50th anniversary in Los Angeles, hosted baseball's all-time most attended game at the LA Coliseum (115,300 vs. Red Sox) and transitioned the organization from its Vero Beach Spring Training home to a new facility at Camelback Ranch in Glendale, Arizona.

Prior to joining the Dodgers, Mannion spent eight seasons with the Baltimore Ravens of the National Football League, where he served as the club's Senior Vice President of Business Ventures. In that role, Mannion oversaw all revenue streams, image, and brand-generating properties. He led and coordinated the development of more than 60 Ravens sub-brands, 12 season-long Ravens television and radio shows, and annual events such as Spring Football Festival, Ravens Kickoff Week, State of the Ravens, and the Ravens All-Community Team. In Baltimore, Mannion also led successful bids to host the 2000 and 2007 Army-Navy Game, the 2002, 2006 and 2008 Navy-Notre Dame game, 2005 and 2010 Maryland-Navy football game and the 2003, 2004 and 2007 NCAA Lacrosse Championships at M&T Bank Stadium.

He pioneered the Ravens' efforts to converge its external programming assets (Rave-TV, Ravens Radio, baltimoreravens.com, Ravens Mobile-In-Zone, Ravens Podcast and Video On Demand) and represented the team during the sale of its stadium naming rights to M&T Bank. He also served on the NFL Business Ventures Committee, the board of Vehicles for Change, the Baltimore Classic Fund, the steering committee for Camden Yards Sports and Entertainment Commission, Medstar Hospital System Foundation, Salisbury University Foundation and was the founder of the Ravens All-Community Team.

With his hiring by the Pistons, Mannion returned to the NBA, where he spent two years managing business operations for Ascent Sports, owners of the Denver Nuggets, the NHL's Colorado Avalanche and Pepsi Center (1997 to 1999). He handled business operations for both teams, helping them transition to the newly-built Pepsi Center and signed the agreement for the 2000 NHL All-Star Game.

Mannion cut his teeth in the sports business with the Philadelphia Phillies spending 16 years (1982-1997) with the baseball club. During the last eight of those years as Vice President of Marketing and Sales, he was noted for enhancing the fan experience at Veterans Stadium and was instrumental in both the acquisition and the staging of the 1996 MLB All-Star Game in Philadelphia. He was named a "40 Under 40" award winner by the Philadelphia Business Journal in 1996 and the Phillies won two MLB Marketing Excellence awards during his time with the club.

Mannion graduated from the University of Massachusetts in 1981 with a bachelor's degree in business and sports management. He received the "Distinguished Alumnus Award" from his alma mater in 1998. He and his wife, Pam, reside in the Detroit area and have five children: Ryan, Kate, Allie, Kellen and Tatum.

JOE DUMARS

PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Known as one of the great competitors in the NBA throughout his 14-year playing career, "Joe D" – as he is commonly referred to around the Detroit area – enters his 14th season as president of basketball operations in 2013-14 and his 29th overall in the NBA. The 50-year-old Louisiana native was promoted to his current position after serving as the club's vice president of player personnel during the 1999-00 season.

Bold personnel decisions and an unwillingness to settle for mediocrity have become trademarks of Dumars' leadership over the last 13 years, and, as the Pistons transition into new era of Detroit Basketball, the 2003 Sporting News NBA Executive of the Year continues striving to keep the organization among the NBA's elite. Since being named as president of basketball operations on June 6, 2000, Dumars has produced teams that have compiled a combined record of 566-484 (.539) over the last 13 NBA seasons.

During an eight-year period from 2001-2009, the club won an NBA Championship (2004), compiled 73 playoff wins and made six consecutive trips to the Eastern Conference Finals (2003-2008), the most since the Los Angeles Lakers went to six straight from 1984 to 1989. In 2007-08, the club won 50-plus games for a franchise-record seventh consecutive season and won its sixth Central Division title in seven years. In 2005-06, Detroit recorded its best regular-season record in franchise history (64-18), and, in 2004-05, the club won its second consecutive Eastern Conference Championship and reached the NBA Finals in consecutive seasons for the first time since 1989 and 1990. Dumars' efforts over the last decade did not go unnoticed as he was named NBA Executive of the Decade by The Sporting News in September 2009.

His keen eye for talent paved the way for Detroit's resurgence. Dumars' past personnel moves have landed Detroit 2004 NBA Finals MVP Chauncey Billups, four-time NBA Defensive Player of the Year Ben Wallace and NBA All-Stars Richard Hamilton, Rasheed Wallace and Antonio McDyess. In addition, Dumars has drafted key talent equally important to Detroit's past and future success. Tayshaun Prince (No. 23 pick in 2002), Jason Maxiell (No. 26 pick in 2005), Rodney Stuckey (No. 15 pick in 2007), Jonas Jerebko (No. 39 pick in 2009), Greg Monroe (No. 7 pick in 2010) and Andre Drummond (No. 9 pick in 2012), have all played important roles and contributed to the success of the franchise.

While the success the club has enjoyed during Dumars' tenure has been well documented, he continues to stress the importance of continued improvement. In a span of less than three months, the club named former NBA Champion Maurice Cheeks as head coach, selected three young players in the 2013 NBA Draft (Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, Tony Mitchell, Peyton Siva), signed two-way standout forward Josh Smith and Italian sharp-shooter Luigi Datome, traded for talented point guard Brandon Jennings, signed reserve center Josh Harrellson and welcomed back "Mr. Big Shot" himself - Chauncey Billups. Adding seven new faces to a roster that includes rising stars Greg Monroe and Andre Drummond, the Pistons look ready to compete for a playoff spot in the Eastern Conference.

Dumars' Detroit beginning coincided with one of the most successful eras in Pistons basketball history. Following a 46-36 rookie campaign in 1985-86, Dumars' teams won 50-plus games each of the next five seasons and two NBA Championships (1989, 1990). He won the first of many NBA honors following the team's 63-19 record in 1988-89, being named to the NBA's All-Defensive First Team. The six-time NBA All-Star was named Most Valuable Player of the 1989 NBA Finals, following the club's successful back-to-back defense of the NBA Championship. Dumars was named first team NBA All-Rookie in 1985-86 and first team NBA All-Defense four times (1988-89, 1989-90, 1991-92 and 1992-93). He was named All-NBA Third Team in 1989-90 and 1990-91 and All-NBA Second Team in 1992-93 when he averaged a career-best 23.5 points per game.

Dumars retired from the game as a player following the 1998-99 NBA season and moved to the front office with a goal of helping return the team to the place that he and his "Bad Boys" teammates knew so well; the NBA Finals. He played in The NBA Finals three times, winning championship rings in 1989 and 1990. His basketball acumen and insights into the game and its players has undoubtedly been beneficial to the organization as it continues pursuing its goals. Dumars, who became the seventh Pistons player to have their jersey retired, also had the NBA Sportsmanship Award named after him on the same evening. The NBA Sportsmanship Award winner, which recognizes the NBA player who best represents the ideals of sportsmanship on the court, is presented with the Joe Dumars Trophy each year. Dumars was named the inaugural recipient of the NBA Sportsmanship Award in November 1996. Dumars' playing career was recognized with the highest of all honors when he was officially enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in September 2006.

Drafted out of McNeese State with the 18th selection in the first round of the 1985 NBA Draft, Dumars went on to play 1,018 regular season games for Detroit in 14 seasons, making him the most tenured player in franchise history. He retired as the team's all-time leading three-point shooter with 990 made and its second all-time leading scorer with 16,401 points. The 6-foot-3 shooting guard also ranks second on Detroit's all-time list for assists (4,612), third in steals (902), third in field goals made (5,994), third in field goals attempted (13,026), third in free throws made (3,423) and third in free throws attempted (4,059).

In addition to his role with the Pistons, Dumars maintains a partnership in Joe Dumars Fieldhouse, an indoor multi-sports and entertainment complex located in Shelby Township. A second Joe Dumars Fieldhouse was opened in 2004 in Detroit, Michigan. Dumars was appointed to the executive committee of the United States Tennis Association in January 1999 and was most recently inducted into the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame and Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame in 2003. He fulfilled a lifelong goal in the spring of 2008 when he completed and received his bachelor's degree in business management from McNeese State.

Born on May 24, 1963, in Shreveport, Louisiana, Joe and his wife Debbie have two children, Jordan and Aren.

MAURICE CHEEKS

MAURICE "MO" CHEEKS

HEAD COACH

Maurice "Mo" Cheeks was named the 29th head coach in Pistons franchise history on June 10, 2013 bringing with him more than 30-plus years of NBA experience to the job. Cheeks joins the Pistons after serving the last four seasons as an assistant coach with the Oklahoma City Thunder where he helped guide the team to a 212-100 (.707) record, four playoff appearances and an NBA Finals appearance in 2012.

Prior to joining the Thunder, Cheeks spent three-plus seasons as head coach of the Philadelphia 76ers. During the 2006-07 season, his first with Philadelphia, he guided the team to a 38-44 record and fell just two wins shy of reaching the postseason. In 2006-07, Cheeks rallied the Sixers from a 5-19 start of the season to finish 35-47 on the season. Philadelphia increased its win percentage to .519 in games played from January through April, compared to a .267 win percentage during the first two months of the season. It marked the biggest improvement in the NBA by any team during that span. The Sixers also went 18-11 (.621) after the All-Star break, which ranked as the eighth-best winning percentage after the break.

Cheeks led Philadelphia to one of the greatest in-season turnarounds in NBA history during the 2007-08 season. On February 4, 2008, the Sixers were 18-30 then went on to win 18 of their next 23 games, becoming only the sixth team in NBA history to go over .500 after being at least 12 games below .500 at some point in the same season. They were only the second team in the previous 20 years to accomplish that feat. The Sixers finished the season with a 40-42 record and reached the postseason for the first time since 2005.

Prior to the Sixers, Cheeks spent three-plus seasons as head coach of the Portland Trail Blazers (2001-05). During his time in Portland, he posted a 162-139 (.538) mark, accounting for the fourth-highest win total in Blazers history. He coached the team to a .500 or better record in three-of-four seasons at the helm. He also helped the Blazers reach the NBA Playoffs twice, and his 2002-03 squad tied for second in the Pacific Division with a 50-32 record.

Before joining Portland, Cheeks spent seven seasons as an assistant coach for the Sixers, working under head coaches John Lucas (1994-96), Johnny Davis (1996-97), and former Pistons head coach Larry Brown (1997-2001). In 2000-01 under Brown, Cheeks helped guide the 76ers to a record of 56-26 (.683) and a trip to the NBA Finals.

The 57-year-old Cheeks played 15 seasons in the NBA, the first 11 with Philadelphia, before stints with San Antonio, New York, Atlanta and New Jersey. He retired in 1993 as the league's all-time steals leader and currently ranks fifth all-time (2,310) on that list. He's one of only 11 players in NBA history to record 2,000 steals and ranks 11th all-time in NBA history with 7,392 assists. Cheeks led the Sixers in assists in each of his 11 seasons and also topped the team in steals in each of his first 10 years.

A key member of the Sixers' 1983 NBA Championship team, he was selected to the NBA's All-Defensive Team five times (First Team: 1983, 1984, 1985, 1986; Second Team: 1987) and played in four All-Star games (1983, 1986, 1987, 1988). Cheeks compiled career averages of 11.1 points, 6.7 assists and 2.1 steals in 1,101 games while shooting .523 from the field and .793 from the free throw line. A favorite in Philadelphia, Cheeks is one of seven former Sixers players to have his number retired by the club (No. 10).

A native of Chicago, he began his coaching career with the Quad City Thunder of the CBA. In his only season with Quad City, Cheeks helped guide the club to the CBA Championship.

The 1978 West Texas State (currently West Texas A&M) graduate was a four-year starter and three-time MVP in college. He finished his collegiate career third on the Buffs' all-time scoring list, averaging 16.8 points per game and shooting 56.8 percent from the field as a senior. Cheeks was selected in the second round of the 1978 NBA Draft (36th overall) by the Sixers.

OVERTIME

THE PALACE OF AUBURN HILLS

The Palace of Auburn Hills, home of the Detroit Pistons (NBA) and numerous concerts, family shows, sporting events, trade shows and special productions, remains one of the world's most innovative arenas after more than 25 years.

The Palace has undergone roughly $141.5 million in venue upgrades throughout the years since its opening in 1988. The most recent renovations conclude a three-year improvement plan which began under ownership of Tom Gores and Platinum Equity. Improvements included 53 renovated suites (24 club-level and 29 concourse-level), Suite Terrace upgrades, an updated West Atrium entrance, an expanded Pistons locker room, a newly developed entertainment complex and locker room area, a refreshed media work room named The Matt Dobek Press Room, installation of an in-arena theatrical lighting system and a sparkling Courtside Broadcast Studio. Additionally, the main concourse was updated, Club West was remodeled and Club 300 was constructed – a full-service open-air lounge on the third-level suite concourse with direct views of the arena floor. DAS WiFi wireless access, digital menu boards and fan-engaging Twitter boards on the upper arena fascia all enhance the fan experience.

The West Atrium was completed in 1996 and contains three levels of offices, a storage facility and an expanded entrance with numerous amenities. In 2004, a Light Emitting Diodes (LED) board was installed, allowing for the display of electronic signage around the entire arena and around the state-of-the-art hanging scoreboard during events.

In 2005, The Palace undertook its largest enhancement project since its opening in 1988. A $30 million expansion introduced the 65,000 square foot North Entrance, named North Pavilion, which opened April 2006. The pavilion's lower level is home to exclusive clubs and suites. The President's Club, which opened in February 2006, boasts a central club/bar area and eight luxury private suites averaging 1,000 square feet. It is accessible by direct entrance from the arena. The pavilion's concourse level created a dramatic new grand entrance/lobby, which provides guests with additional concourse space, additional box office windows and a new retail area. The new area also increased dining options and amenities inside The Palace with café areas featuring Buffalo Wild Wings, the Red Bull Bar and Captain Morgan's Bar. The upper level of the pavilion is the luxurious Pistons VIP Club.

Conceptualized and built in 1987-88 by Arena Associates, consisting of late Pistons managing partner William Davidson, along with David Hermelin and Robert Sosnick, The Palace was immediately recognized as an all-encompassing entertainment venue and quickly became one of the nation's top concert facilities when it opened in 1988. After just one season, The Palace was honored by two entertainment trade publications, being named "New Venue of the Year" by Performance and "Best New Concert Venue" by Pollstar. With the cost of the building and every dollar spent on additions and improvements being privately financed, The Palace continues to uphold its reputation as one of the world's premier sports and entertainment venues.

Overall, The Palace has been nominated "Arena of the Year" 10 times by Performance magazine and won the award seven times. It has also earned 10 "Arena of the Year" nominations from Pollstar magazine and won the honor in 1992. Since its inception, The Palace has hosted almost every major touring concert act.
